Latin American Tour May Bring Policy Change

President's Brother Leaves on Special Southward Mission

Washington —(AP)— Dr. Milton Eisenhower said today he hoped his central American tour will provide a basis for a new look at United States policies in that area.

The president's brother, who said goodbye to President Eisenhower at the White House just before taking off on his special mission, also told newsmen he would be glad to talk with Panama college students who requested an interview with him.

Dr. Eisenhower said he would talk with them at the U. S. embassy in Panama City.

He apparently was unaware that the students turned down an invitation to meet him at the embassy and instead asked him to come to the university.

Official Itinerary
The student group that wishes to talk with Eisenhower is opposed to the present regime in Panama.

Dr. Eisenhower also made public his official itinerary. Some sources had believed it was held up because of security. The state department said last night, however, it was delayed because details were not completed.

Eisenhower's 19-year old daughter, Ruth, is accompanying him on the trip. They are due at 6 p.m. in Panama City for a 4-day visit.

The itinerary then will take him to Tegucigalpa, Honduras, where he arrives at 10 a.m., July 16.

Other scheduled arrivals are 10:30 a.m., July 18, San Jose, Costa Rica; 10:30 a.m., July 21, Managua, Nicaragua; July 24 (no time given) San Juan, Puerto Rico; noon, July 27, San Salvador, El Salvador; 9 a.m., July 30, Guatemala City, Guatemala.

He will leave Guatemala City at 8 a.m., Aug. 1, and arrive in Washington at 6:30 p.m.

In his talk with newsmen after seeing the president, Dr. Eisenhower said there are two purposes behind the trip. One is purely good will expressing friendship of the American people to those of Central America. The other is a general fact-finding study.

CAP of 3 States Hunts for Plane

Milwaukee —(AP)—The civil air patrol in Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa today launched a large-scale search for a private plane which disappeared en route from Milwaukee to Des Moines.

Capt. Robert Geffs, a Janesville officer in the CAP, said the plane was a single-engine green Navion, bearing the number N6720C.

Geffs said the pilot was listed as Lester Weber of San Francisco, traveling with his wife and two other passengers, who were not identified.

The CAA Interstate Airways Communications office here said the plane left Milwaukee's Gen. Mitchell field at 11:11 a.m. Friday after the pilot filed a visual flight plan to Des Moines. The radio office said the plane left with enough fuel to fly five hours and was expected to arrive at Des Moines about 1:10 p.m.

The victim was Mrs. Dorothy Goodman, route 2, Eagle. Authorities said death was due to burns and asphyxiation.

The blaze was discovered by the woman's 13-year-old daughter, Donna, who came home from a swimming party at 5:30 p.m. to find smoke swirling through the windows.

The girl tried to get in through a rear door, but it was locked. Smoke drove her away from the front of the house. She summoned aid from a neighbor, Mrs. Tauhy Ryan, owner of an area resort.

Eagle village firemen, called by Mrs. Ryan, found the body of Mrs. Goodman in an upstairs bedroom. Her feet were on the floor indicating that she had tried to get up when overcome by smoke.

Her husband, Robert, 43, a dispatcher for the Heizer Cartage Co., in Milwaukee, was unaware of the tragedy until he returned home from work about an hour after the blaze.

"Bob was on the floor bleeding. Everybody was screaming. I didn't see anybody come out after I heard the noises."

McMertrey was running toward the back door of the tavern in an effort to escape from being hit when one of Olkonen's shots downed him.

Olkonen's wife was sitting in one of the tavern booths. Bullets ripped up booth padding on both sides of her but she was unhurt.

Probers Aim to Avoid Contempt Action Vote

U. S. Charges Russia Lets East Germany Attempt Blackmail

Incident of 9 Prisoners Will Worsen Relations, Envoy Told

Washington —(AP)— Moscow's repeated refusal to obtain freedom for nine American soldiers held in East Germany threatened today to blow up into a first class row between the United States and Russia.

Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy told Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov yesterday that the Soviet government is permitting East German authorities to use the nine captive Americans to blackmail this country while denying Russia's own responsibility for their return to the west.

Continuation of this situation, Murphy told the ambassador, "can only worsen the relations of the Soviet Union and the United States to the profit of neither country."

Second Protest
In the same session with the Soviet envoy, Murphy also delivered a stern protest against Soviet shooting down of an unarmed U. S. transport plane on June 27 and demanded punishment for "those guilty of the attacks on the plane."

Murphy also said the United States reserves its rights to compensation for loss of the plane and injuries to the crew.

Five of the crewmen were beaten after they parachuted from the burning aircraft — one of them narrowly escaped being hanged by Soviet peasants. Four other crewmen stayed with the plane which made a forced landing in Soviet Armenia. All nine now are back in U. S. jurisdiction.

In a formal note which Murphy gave Menshikov, the United States protested the attacks on the transport by two Soviet jet fighters. It also protested the "failure of the Soviet government" to provide immediately all available information about the incident.

Russia had charged the transport deliberately flew over Soviet territory. The United States replied the plane was on a flight to Teheran, Iran, over the regular commercial air route — across Turkey — when it strayed across the Soviet frontier.

"To suggest that a slow, 4-engine, propeller type, unarmed aircraft would attempt to violate a heavily defended foreign area is preposterous," the U. S. note said.

Measure Sent to House Opposed By Administration
The senate passed it by voice vote yesterday after swiftly adopting several amendments without discussion.

Before the final vote, Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn) said Eisenhower might veto the bill if the house passes it in its present shape. It was uncertain what the house would do with the bill.

Praises Measure
Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), floor manager for the measure, hailed it as a means to help solve housing problems of the elderly, of low and middle income families, of slum dwellers, and of the nation's colleges.

Major new money authorizations in the bill are: $1,800,000,000 in federal grants for urban renewal or slum clearance over a 6-year period; $400 million for college dormitory loans.

$150 million for direct loans to veterans; $125 million for college classroom and laboratory loans.

The latter item embodies a new program. In addition to the $125 million for direct loans, the bill would permit the government to guarantee another $250 million in private loans for college classrooms and laboratories.

Squatters Seize Land in Mexico
Ensenada, Mexico —(AP)— Mexican squatters have seized a big chunk of rich farm land owned by a colony of White Russians.

There was no violence when the squatters swooped in Friday, but a detachment of Mexican soldiers moved in to patrol the scene—the Guadalupe Valley, about 50 miles south of the California border.

Witnesses said the squatters — about 3,000 — were well-organized. About 4,500 acres was seized.

Authorities were inclined to view the seizure as another incident in the Mexican agrarian movement, a term given to the efforts of landless peasants to seize land they say is held by absentee landowners.

About 95 White Russians — called Mokokans — live in the valley.

7 Automobiles Burn Because Girl Takes Nap
Beverly Hills, Calif. —(AP)— A pretty blonde took a short nap — and seven cars, most of them the expensive kind, went up in flames.

Police said Yolanda Cancelmi, 26, went to sleep at the wheel of her car and smashed into the rear of six parked cars on Wilshire boulevard yesterday morning.

The cars smashed one into another and caught fire in what one resident said resembled a flaming accordion. Damage was estimated at $30,000.

Miss Cancelmi, a hotel receptionist, got a head cut. Her score: Two Thunderbirds, one of them hers; three Cadillacs, a Buick and a Pontiac.

No charges were filed against her as a result of the accident.

Claims Rackets Get at Least Billion Yearly

Committee Counsel Says Investigation To Bear Out Report

Washington —(AP)— Robert F. Kennedy, counsel to the senate rackets committee, said today the underworld is milking at least a billion dollars a year out of labor-management rackets.

He said this will be borne out as the committee gets deeper into its investigation of alleged gangster infiltration of both labor unions and business enterprises from coast to coast.

"It may prove to be a conservative figure," Kennedy told reporters. He declined to give now a breakdown of the take by such rackets in any particular area.

The committee plans to resume Tuesday public hearings on the rackets infested Chicago restaurant industry. Later hearings will deal with rackets in Detroit, New York, Pennsylvania's garment industry, Miami, Los Angeles and various other places.

Refuse to Answer
Chicago gangster Tony Accardo and three of his alleged lieutenants repeatedly invoked the fifth amendment yesterday, refusing to answer any questions about alleged extortion conspiracies.

They refused to say whether they have been shaking down Chicago restaurant owners by selling them protection from trouble with racketeer bossed labor unions.

Joseph Di Varco, Jack Cerone and Ross Prio refused among other things to tell whether they know anything about the May 13 raid by masked gunmen on Allgaier's Fireside restaurant.

The gunmen held employees at gunpoint and put the place to the torch, causing an estimated $750,000 damage, two days after committee investigators had interviewed its owner, Gus Allgaier.

Green Bay Man Tells Police of $189 Holdup
Green Bay —(AP)— Steve Dalahaut, Green Bay, cashed a check for $189 in Don Nickolai's tavern Friday night but didn't keep the money for long.

He told police that while he was counting it in his car in back of the tavern, a man wearing a false nose and eye glasses and with a cloth over his hand as if he was holding a gun, approached the car and demanded the money. Delahaut handed it over. The robbery occurred at 9:30 p.m. in the heart of the city's business district.

Knowland Backs Tariff Powers For President
Washington —(AP)— Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif) announced today he is joining the administration's fight against a move to restrict presidential tariff powers.

Knowland, the senate Republican leader, said he will oppose a proposal to give congress final say over whether the president may reject tariff commission recommendations for higher tariffs or import quotas to protect domestic industries claiming injury from imports.

The president now has discretionary authority to accept or reject such recommendations.

The senate finance committee wrote the restrictive amendment, sponsored by Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla), into a bill to extend the reciprocal trade agreements law for three more years. This 24-year-old law gives the president authority to negotiate mutual trade concessions with other nations.

Princess Margaret In British Columbia
Vancouver, British Columbia —(AP)— Princess Margaret of England was scheduled to arrive here today to start a 14-day state visit to British Columbia, this year celebrating its 100th birthday.

The princess, sister of Queen Elizabeth, and her retinue of 17 were to pause at this coastal city only for a few minutes before continuing on to Victoria, the provincial capital located on Vancouver island 60 miles southwest of here.

Twenty-Nine Members of a Ballet troupe enroute from Wheeling, W. Va., to Washington, D. The dancers, evacuated by ladder, boarded another bus to continue their trip. (AP Wirephoto)

Thor Intermediate Missile Cone Sought

Air Force Announces Landing In Pre-Determined Region

Cape Canaveral, Fla. —(AP)— The air force successfully fired the Thor intermediate range ballistic missile some 1,500 miles through space today in a test aimed at recovering a tactical nose cone.

An official spokesman announced some four hours after the missile blasted skyward that the nose cone landed in a pre-determined impact area.

Attempts will be made to recover a special data capsule carried inside the cone.

The missile reportedly was as close to the operational version of the Thor as test purposes permit.

It was the sixteenth Thor fired in the air force's IRBM development program that began early in 1957.

Set To Be Separated
The stubby nose cone—a prototype of the warhead that will top an operational Thor—was set to separate from the missile during the ballistic flight.

The 65-foot rocket thrust upward from a huge pool of yellow flame at 1:36 a.m. It was a yellow torch in the sky for 23 minutes before engine burnout occurred and the missile coasted out of view.

The test apparently was another big step in an accelerated program to prepare the Thor for combat readiness by December.

At that time Thor squadrons are expected to be assigned to the Royal Air Force in England.

The air force announced shortly after the launching that the missile's flight appeared to be normal.

It was the first time that the Thor had been fired twice within a one-week stand.

Wednesday a Thor-Able rocket pushed a nose cone and its mouse passenger 6,000 miles through space. A search for the nose cone is still on in the Atlantic.

The Douglas missile is expected to provide the first stage for an air force moon shot in August.

As usual, the range attempted in the test was classified, but a Thor has traveled as far as 2,500 miles previously. The huge missile was designed to carry a nuclear warhead 1,500 miles.

The Thor and the army's Jupiter are interservice rival IRBMs. Eventually only one of the two will be operational.

Slays Woman, Wounds 3 Persons, Kills Self During Siege by Police

Sandpoint, Idaho —(AP)— A 73-year-old retired rancher rammed a north Idaho lumbering community last night and, wielding a pistol with deadly accuracy, killed one woman and wounded three other persons.

Emil Olkonen, who opened fire in a tavern-club without any apparent provocation, drove to his nearby home after his pistol was empty and killed himself with a rifle as lawmen poured shot after shot into the barricaded house.

Celebrated Anniversary
Killed was Mrs. Ruth Tanner, 66. Wounded, none seriously, were Robert Hunter, 46, the bartender; Bud McMertrey, a customer; and Police Chief George Elliott.

Mrs. Olga Hunter, wife of the wounded bartender, told the Associated Press:

"Tonight was our wedding anniversary and I thought some-ing a loudspeaker, trying to talk Olkonen into coming out peacefully.

"A car swung around the corner," Lewis said, "and the chief went down with a flesh wound in the chest as the headlights of that car spotlighted him."

Shoot Out Lights
As Olkonen's shot sent Elliott to the ground, officers shot out all of the street lights in the district to darken the siege scene.

Police from nearby St. Maries and Coeur d'Alene were dispatched to Sandpoint. Washington state patrolmen also were called in to help the Idaho officers.

The police fired steadily at the house. Suddenly they noticed that their shots were going unanswered. Rushing the house they found Olkonen had killed himself with a 30-30 caliber deer rifle.

Red Cross Votes to Join New United Fund Drive

Waupaca Unit's Board of Directors Agrees Unanimously After Earlier Objections

Waupaca — The Waupaca chapter of the American Red Cross voted at its annual meeting to join the newly formed Community Chest United Fund drive by a unanimous vote, although some opposition was voiced in a preliminary discussion.

The matter was brought up at the board of directors meeting following the annual session. The Red Cross is one of several organizations which have been reluctant in the past to join chest drives.

Chairman Elected

Major objections were that should a disaster strike, the chapter would be unable to make an emergency fund drive. Robert F. Stange, director of the Red Cross and also Community Chest president, explained that the chest has provisions for such community disasters.

Stange also explained to the group that in case of a local disaster, he as president of the board would not be against a special drive and he felt that the rest of the board would feel the same way, although they were not present.

The new chapter chairman elected to replace Mrs. Alfred Carstenson of Fremont who resigned was Everett Jorgensen of Weyauwega. Other directors elected include Ken Pinkerton, Waupaca; Len Hoyard, Iola; Leo Hershberger, Manawa, and Walter Dean, Weyauwega.

Officers elected by the board include Leroy Haberkorn, vice chairman; Mel Mather, treasurer, and Morris Smith, executive secretary. Other directors are Arnold Dretke, Union; William Kramer, Fremont; Robert Stange, Waupaca, and Mrs. Winifred Krostue, Scandinavia.

Year end reports showed that Mrs. Harriet Ward, home service chairman, handled 206 active cases, 33 veterans, and seven civilians. Other requests for limited service brought the total to 313 cases handled for the year. Active service cases include military personnel and their dependents.

Two home fire victims were aided by Arthur D. Larson, relief director, who helped the families obtain food, clothing and housing. He also conducted a total of 26 buildings suitable for shelter use were available in the area. They will house 4700 and have facilities for feeding 3,500.

Chairman Resigns

Roland Handrich of Manawa, first aid chairman for four years, resigned and was not replaced. Several have volunteered to teach first aid courses but would not take the chairmanship. Other qualified instructors in the chapter include Harold Holly, Loren Frazier, Mrs. Roland Handrich, Handrich and Mrs. Ruth Lightfuss.

The water safety program headed by Leroy Haberkorn of Waupaca is being carried out in four cities. Haberkorn is handling Waupaca, Mrs. Wanda Roeder, Manawa, Mrs. Elsie Yohr, Fremont and Miss Lana Hoyard, Iola.

Home nursing courses headed by Martha Heigl were held in Weyauwega and Waupaca. She was assisted by Mrs. Clarence Radtke and Mrs. Alice Murray of Weyauwega in the program.

Gray ladies under Mrs. Hilda Abrahamson's direction provided about 400 hours of service for the veteran's hospital at King during the year.

The chapter blood program, headed by Mrs. John Sherburne of Weyauwega administered 485 pints of blood to area residents. Secretary Morris Smith emphasized that Red Cross blood is free, but that a charge of $12.50 is made for administering and handling the blood at the hospital.

Last year, five Waupaca players took first places in the state competition.

Waupaca area youths attending include Doris Hafele, Joanne Robbins, Leah Miller, Jimmy Miller, Douglas Porrey and Jay Peterson, all of Waupaca; David Gruel and Peter Peters of Manawa, Susan Faulks and Gerard Miller of Weyauwega; Rose Lane and Christine Norlin of Wild Rose; Dennis Hickey, Scandinavia; Gordon Schmidt, Royallton; Pat Nelson, Saxville and Connie Pope, Lind Center.

Driver Fined For Speeding And Conduct

Waupaca — Speeding and disorderly conduct resulted in $50 fines for each offense for Donald R. Bray, 30, route 3, Wautoma, who was arrested Friday morning.

Bray pleaded guilty to both charges when he appeared before Justice George Whalen.

He was clocked by police from Stewart street to the Waupaca river on Royalton street at 72 miles per hour in a 25-mile-an-hour zone. Police reports show Bray did not stop for the police siren and red light until he was several miles out of town. He told police he did not hear the siren or see the light.

Abusive language at the time of his arrest resulted in the disorderly conduct charge.

Community Chest To Set Goal for Waupaca Drive

Waupaca — Campaign collection figures from all charitable organizations in Waupaca have been requested in letters sent out this week by the newly formed Waupaca Community Chest.

The letter asks organizations to submit figures for the last three years showing amounts collected in fund drives. From these figures an average will be determined. The total of the averages will be the figure set as a goal this year by the chest.

The basic idea behind the chest is to collect all money in Waupaca available for charity at one time in a unified fund drive. This is done to avoid the many individual fund drives.

The president of the chest's board of directors, Robert F. Stange, says he believes the unified campaign will be successful.

Members of the budget and admissions committee handling the organization of the goal include Harold Johnston, chairman, Mrs. Wendell McHenry, Mel Mather.

Two New Bridges Open To Vehicular Traffic

Waupaca County in Midst of Greatest Program in History, Commissioner Says

New London — Two of the three bridges being built this summer in Waupaca county are open to traffic and the third will be opened soon, according to Charles Larson, highway commissioner, who said the county is in the midst of the biggest bridge building program in its history.

The bridges open for traffic are at New London and Northport, both on County Trunk X.

The biggest of the three bridges, a 292-foot span, is over the Wolf river at Northport. The bridge was opened to traffic Thursday although county crews are still working on the approaches. The project also includes a three-quarter mile relocation of X bypassing the residential district of Northport.

Boat Clearance

The new bridge is a fixed type built higher than the old bridge to allow clearance for boats. It has wide curbs on both sides to allow room for walking.

The first of the three bridges was completed about three weeks ago when the Shawano street bridge at New London was opened to traffic. The bridge is 232 feet long and contains wide walks on both sides.

The other bridge is a 75-foot span over the Pigeon river at Clintonville. The project also includes relocation work with graveling and grading.

Three Bridges

Larson said the three bridges will cost about $562,185 of which half will be paid by the county and the other half will be paid by the federal government. The New London bridge is the most expensive, costing about $193,325. The Northport bridge costs about $192,800 and the Clintonville bridge will cost about $176,060.

Larson said two more bridges in the 50-foot span class will have to be replaced. One is located in the town of Little Wolf and the other in the town of Wyoming. At the present time, 16 of the 18 major bridges have been replaced.

The county highway department also has charge of about 20 smaller bridges of between 18 and 24 feet.

Motorist Admits Traffic Charge

New London — Harley D. Knoll, 60, Sheboygan, pleaded guilty of failure to yield the right-of-way when he was arraigned before Justice Bernard Plumb. He was fined $10.

Knoll was arrested after an accident Thursday afternoon at Highways 54 and 45. His car collided with one driven by Walter W. Stepanik, Pine Island, Schofield.

Mrs. Gertrude Knoll, 55, Sheboygan, suffered bruises on the legs and a shoulder injury.

Girl Scouts, Brownies Complete Camp Session

Study Fire Prevention, Forest Life During Week-Long Stay at Vic-To-Rae

New London — Girl Scouts and Brownies from New London, Waupaca, Clintonville, Iola and Scandinavia concluded the first week of the summer day camp session at the Vic-To-Rae Girl Scout camp near Northport, according to Mrs. Reginald Eckhart, camp director. There were 93 girls and leaders at camp.

Featured was a visit by Sid Miller, Waupaca county forest ranger who discussed conservation.

He also discussed the hazards of fire in the woods. Miller explained the functions of each insect and bug found in the forests.

Fire Prevention

Members of Unit One spent the week on basic fire prevention. They held fire drills to supplement the program. They also worked on nature crafts, plaster paris leaf molds, grass dolls, and trail markers.

Unit Two learned fire building and safety rules and studied three different leaves. They mounted them in books.

The fifth grade girls of Unit

Three cleared away the dead branches for a new unit site, did stick cooking for the first time and made autograph plates. The girls also worked on shell-crafts and wove place mats of veneer strips.

Indian Theme

The fifth and sixth grade members of Unit Four used the Indian theme and planned their program around the theme. They also collected bugs for their insect badges and used advanced methods for outdoor cooking.

Culmination of the week-long day camp was a campfire program Thursday night attended by about 250 people. Each unit presented a skit.

Another group will attend camp sessions next week.

Nation Watching Tennessee Race

Senate Nomination Will Affect Civil Rights Course, White Says

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington — Sometimes an apparently local political race has, below the surface, an importance far above its meaning at home — a significance hardly less than that of a national election.

Such a rare contest has developed in Tennessee. Superficially, the issue simply is whether Sen. Albert Gore shall be granted a Democratic renomination equivalent to reelection or whether he shall be replaced by Prentice Cooper.

The outcome of the primary Aug. 7 will involve neither party gain nor loss; the seat in any event will remain Democratic. But being put to the test is a whole new political movement. This is nothing less than the long effort of the younger south to turn away from the destructive memories of the war between the states — still to honor southern gallantry, yes, but to forget the wounding bitterness of a defeat sealed nearly a hundred years ago.

The result will tell whether a moderately liberal and forward-looking southern political view can survive in the tragic backwash of the racial crisis in Little Rock and elsewhere. And if this view cannot live in Tennessee, which is upper southern rather than deep southern, it can hardly live anywhere in the south.

Political Spotlight
All this is the estimate of the ablest national politicians here, in both parties and from all sections. The eyes of political Washington are focusing on Tennessee.

For Gore is the first to come up for reelection of that handful of southern senators who twice in less than three years

AVS Board Approves Budget of $229,112

Almost $16,000 Higher; $153,374 Will Be Needed From Property Taxes

Appleton Vocational school board has approved a $229,112 budget, largest in the school's history, for the 1958-59 school year.

The budget is $15,928 more than last year's $213,184. The school will ask the city for $153,374 from property taxes — $5,900 more than last year's $147,474 request. The rest of the money needed, $75,738, will be obtained from state and federal aids and reimbursements, $30,400; tuition, $24,500; and miscellaneous fees of $20,838.

Salaries for day teachers will require $102,980. This is $6,460

Manawa School District to Submit $39,755 Budget

Manawa — A proposed budget of $39,755 will be submitted to the members of the Manawa State Graded School district at the annual meeting at the school Monday evening.

The budget meeting will begin at 7 o'clock, and the regular meeting at 8 o'clock, according to Mrs. Paul Sturm, clerk. Of the total budget, $31,755 will be raised by the local levy tax. State aid is estimated at about $8,000. The budget increase of about $4,000 is accounted for by a jump in teachers' salaries.

A director, to replace Arthur Schuelke, whose 3-year term expires, will be elected.

Letters to all parents of grade school children were sent out this week by the Parent-Teachers association, reminding them of the annual meeting.

more than was spent last year. Administration salaries for the coming year are estimated at $48,155—up $3,665 from the $44,479 budgeted for 1957-58.

Evening school instructors' salaries have been budgeted at $23,000, compared to $22,000 estimated last year.

Other Appropriations
Other budget appropriations include: building service, $9,000; supplies, $6,250; educational equipment, $5,490; administration expenses, $7,467; building repairs, $5,000; building and ground expenses, $9,770; homecraft expenses, $1,500; repairs on equipment, $1,300; residence, $800 and reference books, $400.

Included in the building and ground expense figure is $3,400 the school is considering spending for a parking lot on the Marston property, purchased from the city this year. If the school decides to construct a building on the property in the future, it may not seek funds for a parking lot, Carl G. Bertram, AVS director, said.

Casey Murders the Bat

Sen. Kefauver made it all the way to a vice presidential nomination on the strength of the racket busting hearings he conducted in the Senate. He clicked again this week when he took advantage of the All-Star game in Baltimore to sign up some of baseball's greats for appearances before the Senate committee conducting hearings on a bill to exempt professional sports from the anti-trust laws.

The star witness was Casey Stengel. Millions are familiar with Casey's talents on the ball field, but some may not be familiar with the fact that Casey has originated a new take-off on the English language which has become known as Stengelese.

Casey was kind of on the spot as a witness in the first place. In regard to the anti-trust legislation, baseball is in a peculiar position because under Supreme Court rulings it is now exempt from the regulations, but professional football is not. That's the reason for the legislation.

With this in mind, Kefauver asked Stengel why baseball owners want this new legislation. And the sage of Yankee Stadium wound up and uncorked this one:

"I wouldn't know, but I imagine to keep baseball going as high as baseball is as a sport, they have gone into baseball and from the baseball angle."

Pursuing his line of questioning, the senator got this answer:

"If you don't produce on the field, you get traded. Our club is successful because it has the spirit of '76. I've been in baseball 48 years, so there must be some good in it. Where else can you retire at 50 and get an annuity? It's a great thing for the players. Of course, we've had some bad weather, but attendance has been good. They're mad at us in Chicago and Kansas City, but we broke attendance records there."

The impression is that Kefauver was rather happy when he could dismiss Casey from the stand and turn to Mickey Mantle. The great slugger's testimony was brief:

"My views are just about the same as Casey's," he said.

Congressional investigators have been stymied many times by witnesses who invoke the protection of the Fifth amendment to avoid embarrassing disclosures on the stand. Those racketeers and five-per-centers could take a lesson from Casey Stengel.

What the State Patrol Does

The frequency of questions from motorists about the work and accomplishments of the state traffic patrol suggests that the public is not yet fully aware of the purposes and activities of this new state service which is supported at a cost of about $2 millions a year.

The patrol's most recent annual report may set at rest some of the doubts of the motoring public, including the standard question about the disposition of forces of the 250-man enforcement division.

As Commandant L. E. Beier explains, these officers are not assigned blindly. The patrol maintains statistical records which show not only the nature and the probable cause of highway accidents, but also their location. The disposition of manpower is according to need, as shown by the grisly accident statistics, with some adjustment according to the forces put in the field by local government, especially the counties.

The Beier report confirms what most observant motorists know about the nature of the highway accident problem. For example, well over half of all accidents outside cities are caused by illegal speeds.

It is worth noticing too that while the accident rate in urban localities has steadily declined for some years, there has been a distressing rise in the incidence of acci-

The Need for Foreign Languages

We have commented before about the lack or inadequacy of instruction in foreign languages, particularly in the public schools of Wisconsin. Courses are being conducted in France and Germany at this time that emphasize this point.

The State department has established language schools at Nieg and Frankfurt "to better the generally weak showing of United States diplomatic personnel in the mastery of foreign languages." The students spend an average of 60 hours a week for four months on their studies. They are graded according to a scale from 1, which means the ability to make ordinary salutations and one-word responses, up to 5, which indicates knowledge equivalent to their knowledge of English. The instructors hope to raise the level of ability of the Americans as high as 3 or to a "useful knowledge" of the language.

Very likely these men have studied some language at home or they would not have been accepted for the diplomatic service in the first place. Yet their ability is so poor that they must spend four months of a

Vicuna, Mink or Cloth, a Coat Is Political Symbol

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

When the institutional teams of researchers have at last found why the grass is green and the sea salty, who Sylvia is and where Elmer, whither Judge Crater and whence the enchowdered overalls, we wish they would tackle the curious problem of the coat in American politics.

"We do not mean the figurative coat — not the Joseph's coat of many colors which is the opposition's shifty stand on any issue, or the cloak of respectability under which the shady opponent constantly operates, or the mantle of Washington, Jefferson, or Lincoln which is about to descend upon the capable shoulders of our own party's candidate for high office.

We mean the genuine article, the kind that is worn for comfort and adornment and guaranteed to wear like iron. As, for instance, the mink coat which, blended with a few deep freckers, produced that celebrated breaches that the sansculottes didn't have, and the shirts that the descamisados acquired from Eva Peron, and the liberty cap that formerly populated every political picnic and torchlight parade.

Why America has turned away from these time-tested items of apparel to embrace the coat as a symbol is beyond us. We do know that the coat is in politics with both feet, and is apparently believed, by both major parties, to exert powerful vote-getting influences, whether drape-shape or with natural shoulders, three buttons, and a vent in the back.

Plan Production of 'Mikado' Paraphrase

New York — Another transformation of "The Mikado" is heading for Broadway.

Titled "The Cool Mikado," it is described by its creator, Don Walker, as "a complete paraphrase" of the most famous of Gilbert and Sullivan's operettas.

The sturdy favorite, perennially revived around the White Way, previously received jazz treatments as "The Swing Mikado" and "The Hot Mikado."

'Don't Know' Expressions Confuse Issue

BY ELMO ROPER AND ASSOCIATES

Although most Americans were glad when Gen. de Gaulle came to power in France, their approval did not extend to the plans of the men who brought him there. In Algiers, French army officers and "colons" demanded de Gaulle's leadership in the name of an Algeria "forever French." But in the opinion of a large segment of the American public, the strife-torn North African country should have its independence.

In regard to the situation in Algeria, some people say Algeria is a part of France and should remain so, others say Algeria should have complete independence from France. Which do you tend to agree with?

Apparently, the revolutionary origins of their own country put many Americans in sympathy with the nationalist struggle of the Algerian rebels. The Algerian conflict is seen by these people as one more fight against colonial domination which should end in the formation of a free Algerian government. Others may simply be convinced that North African nationalism is an irresistible force against which French resistance is futile as well as costly. Then, too, the methods used by the French paratroopers to subdue the rebellion have won few advocates to France's cause.

Many 'Don't Know'

This attitude may speak well for the generous and idealistic American spirit. But to many observers the question is not that simple. The fact that more than one third of the public ended up in the "don't know" column illustrates the difficulty of finding a clear-cut solution to the problem of Algeria. (This undecided sentiment

'Dixie' Written By Ohio Yankee

Alaska Brings Spectacular Geography to Union

Washington — As the 49th State, Alaska will add to the union not only a far-north frontier, but an assortment of superlative, odd, and spectacular physical features.

More than twice as big as Texas, Alaska has two panhandles, says the National Geographic society. One reaches 1,500 miles southward through the Aleutian Island chain to face Soviet islands off the Siberian peninsula Kamchatka. The other forms a slim mainland-and-island strip that extends 1,000 miles southeastward along the Canadian coast.

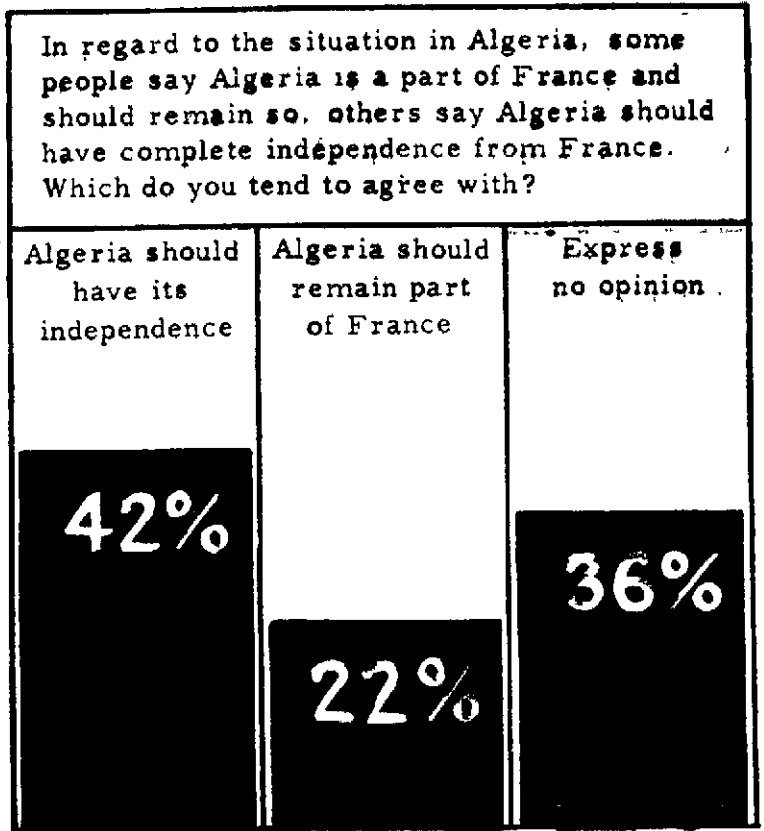

The southernmost point of this eastern panhandle is 500 miles north of Washington state. Alaska's easternmost city, Ketchikan, located within the panhandle, is 500 miles closer to the Orient than is any part of continental United States.

Self-Draining Lake

Straddling the Arctic circle, Alaska still holds remnants of the ice age. Many of its glacial scenes are reminiscent of Antarctica.

A natural wonder that Alaskans hope will some day attract tourists is Lake George, whose outlet is dammed by Knik glacier, only 45 miles from Alaska's largest city, Anchorage.

Each spring and summer, the lake depression is filled to the brim with rain, melt-

And those who believe French-Algerian ties should be preserved are able to point out that the more than a million Frenchmen who know Algeria as their only home have rights, too, in the land they have settled and developed — a land which, before they came, had in fact no national identity to be reckoned with.

Mid-West Vote

Politically, the two major parties divide in about the same proportions on the desirable Algerian outcome. For perhaps obvious reasons, it is those who consider themselves political independents who express the strongest interest in national independence for Algerians.

Regionally, it is the Middle West which is most inclined to favor French-Algerian integration; whereas the Far West, more than any other part of the country, believes in "Algeria for the Algerians."

North America's highest peak, 20,320-foot McKinley rises in another huge federal preserve, Mount McKinley National park. Roaming its more than 3,000 square miles of forests, lakes, and mountains are caribou, mountain sheep, bears, wolves, and other specimens of Alaska's abundant wildlife.

Economic ally, Alaska's immense resources in salmon and other fisheries, forests, furs, oil, and minerals have hardly been tapped. Enough wealth, however, has been garnered since the area was bought from Russia in 1867 to repay many times the bargain price of $7,200,000. Though the gold rush days are a memory, the annual gold yield still amounts to more than $8 million a year. One Nome bank will cash a poke of gold if asked.

Giant Alaska is small in one respect. Its population is estimated at about 213,000, including military personnel at various bases and strategic outposts, and the native Eskimos, Indians, and Aleuts. At that, say the Alaskans, they have the fastest-growing population in the country, having tripled their numbers since 1940.

Deficit Spending Can Give Economy a Boost

BY FRANK CORNIEE AP New Analyst

Washington — The recession-hit economy will get a bigger boost from Uncle Sam in the next 12 months than the federal budget indicates.

The budget, according to expert estimates, will be 10 to 12 billion dollars in the red for the 1959 fiscal year that began July 1.

That much deficit spending — spending of borrowed money, in effect — can add a good bit of zip to the business outlook. But that's only part of the deficit story.

Uncle Sam keeps still another set of books, and government experts are now guessing that these will show a deficit $1 to $2 billion bigger than that in the regular budget.

The second set of books is kept on a cash flow basis. That is, it records the amount of money the government receives from the public, balanced against federal payments to the public.

Economists say cash flow is a good measure of the impact of federal financial operations on the income of the public as a whole.

For example, if the cash figures show a $12 billion deficit in the current fiscal year, the government in effect will be adding roughly this amount to the public income.

Push for Business

A fiscal transfusion on that scale would prove a potent prop under the economy. And if the recession has already touched bottom, as some economists believe, it could give business a big push upward.

It's also significant that the effect of the deficit will be greater in the first half of the fiscal year, through Dec. 31, than in the second half. This is so because government revenues are scanty in the July-December period. Corporation tax payments are heaviest in the second half of the fiscal year.

The cash flow figures ordinarily show a smaller deficit than the budget statistics. For fiscal 1958, for example, some government economists estimate the cash deficit will be about a billion dollars less than the budget deficit.

The cash accounts include social security and highway trust funds and some other items that aren't part of the regular budget.

These special funds have shown a surplus in recent years. In fiscal 1959, however, more money will be paid out of these accounts than will be taken in.

That's why the cash figures this year will add to the economic impact of the budget deficit, instead of blunting its effect.

A lot of Americans who normally don't like red ink spending by the government may say it couldn't have happened at a better time — particularly if they are among the 51 million unemployed.

Halt Campaign To Scuttle Old Fishing Laws

Commission Refuses To Advance Opening Of Bass Season

The state conservation commission has called a halt to the campaign of the state fisheries division to scuttle many of the old-time rules about sports fishing.

The commission has declined to advance the opening date for bass fishing in northern Wisconsin, as asked by the staff biologists arguing that most of the bass in northern rivers and lakes have not yet completed spawning by May 15, the opening date proposed.

The fisheries division had hoped to arrange an earlier season, as it several years ago won approval for a May 1 opening for bass and all other game fish species in southern Wisconsin waters. The commission two years ago had advanced the traditional June 20 opening to June 7 for upper Wisconsin - north of Highway 64.

Door County

In setting up the fisheries code for 1959, however, the commission turned down the arguments of Door county conservation interests for a later opening in outlying waters.

The Door county members of the Conservation Congress had asked for the retention of the traditional July 1 opening on bass for all outlying waters, including the bays and harbors of Lake Michigan, Green Bay and Lake Superior.

But the commission action had the effect of moving up the opening in Door county inland waters and in all outlying waters to the June 7 date set for northern Wisconsin generally.

Muskies Reported Active in State's Northern Waters

Madison — (P) — Big muskies are active in Wisconsin, the conservation department reported today in its weekly fishing condition report.

A 46-pounder and one weighing 28 pounds were taken from Shell lake in Washburn county while motor trolling. This is one of the waters where motor trolling is now legal and these fish were the first reported taken by that method.

The fishermen were not identified.

The department noted a 34-pound musky was caught in Big lake in Vilas county and a 40-pounder from Lac Vieux Desert, also in Vilas county.

A fisherman on Butternut lake in Price county held a big musky for four hours on spinning tackle but lost it.

The report added: Door county bass fishing is very good; Grant county's Green river is producing nice trout; there is a lot of good walleye fishing.

Additional Week of Buck Hunting In Northern Areas, Extension of Party Permit Plan Will Boost Bag

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A record bag of 100,000 deer is the goal of the conservation commission in the unusually liberal fall deer hunting season approved with record speed and with no hint of dispute or resistance Friday.

With the signs showing that the deer herd is at a high level of numbers, and with the Wisconsin conservation congress leadership suggesting a gradually mellowing public opinion on the once hotly argued "deer question", the commission set up a deer hunting map for the state this fall that will look like this:

Spike Bucks

1. Sixteen days of hunting for spike bucks in the counties north of U S Highway 8, which runs from Marinette county to St. Croix Falls on the west, through Crandon, Rhinelander, Prentice, Ladysmith and Barron.

2. Nine days of spike buck hunting in the rest of the state.

3. Party permit hunting for deer of any sex in all of the state that is open to buck hunting, except the Mississippi river counties. Under the party permit started last year, parties of hunters in fours can buy an additional license to take a deer of any size or sex.

4. Three days of hunting for any deer, Nov. 15 to 17, in eight counties in the Mississippi river region, followed by six days of spike buck hunting. The party permit system will not be effective in those counties.

Only five counties, all of them in the extreme southern zone of the state, won't have deer hunting of any kind.

The exceptionally liberal season was decided upon for the calculated purpose of taking an emergency harvest of venison.

Some forecasts have it that the kill may reach 125,000. Last year, with the party permit inaugurated for the first time in a restricted northern zone and a nine day buck season authorized otherwise, hunters took about 68,000 deer. Biologists testified that the herd has not been affected. Principal result of the party permit system, it is argued, was to harvest deer that would otherwise have been killed accidentally or otherwise illegally, and thus left to go to waste.

The Reasoning

The additional week of buck hunting in the far northern counties, which will take the season through the Thanksgiving day weekend, had not been discussed publicly. It was not brought up before the state session of the Congress here in June, a fact that some of the Congress leaders mentioned with mild criticism. There was a proposal from the Congress executive committee that an extra week of shooting in advance of the regular season would produce a greater bag, but commissioners demurred. That would have been more controversial, they feared.

The reasoning of the game managers is that hunters who may fail to hit a target during the regular season elsewhere in the state—including the heavily hunted west-central region—will be encouraged to move north for the post-season shooting and thus relieve the overpopulation in the more remote forests. But the commission did nothing about the urgent request of the U. S. forest service to permit a radical thinning out of the deer population in some of the national forest sections, through even more liberal emergency rules.

Herbert Behnke of Peshtigo, a member of the congress executive council, apparently summed up the attitude of that advisory agency when he said the general public must be shown that there are too many deer for the good of the herd.

"The alternative will be a state-wide slaughter later if we fail," he remarked, alluding to the controversial antlerless deer shoots ordered by the commission a decade ago in a desperate campaign against excessive deer population.

That the overgrown deer herd is again worrying the foresters responsible for the health of northern Wisconsin woodlands was suggested by Arthur Greeley, north central chief for the U. S. forest service.

"We want to grow both timber and deer, but unless something is done we won't grow either," he said, referring to the destruction of natural deer range by the heavily increasing deer herd.

An Honest Answer

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

They had asked the Appleton man an honest question and it deserved an honest answer.

They had asked it, moreover, on a rainy Saturday afternoon as the three men huddled around a table in a boathouse on the banks of the Peshtigo river trading yarns and waiting for the slants of rain to stop.

First Fish Usually Best One

Thunder rumbled overhead and the Peshtigo writhed beneath lashes from the wind. The kerosene lamp flickered, casting shadows on the faces of the three as a black sky turned mid - afternoon into semi-darkness.

Altogether, it was a situation which called for truth. The Appleton man considered the question. He had taken a few fish in his time—some of which he was proud. There was a walleye from the Mississippi, for instance, which made the scales groan at seven pounds and there was a northern from Lac Court Oreilles which went to 15 pounds. Neither was a record but they had brought the Appleton man considerable satisfaction.

But were they biggest or the best?

There's more to a good fish than poundage, length or girth. There's situation, for instance, circumstance, desire or, even, need.

The Appleton man knew what his answer would be. He would tell them, these two companions huddling around a table in a boathouse on the Peshtigo, about the biggest fish he'd ever caught.

Hold Hearing Monday on Dog Training

The state conservation commission will conduct a public hearing at 8 o'clock Monday evening at the state office building in Madison on its proposed rules regulating training of hunting dogs.

Generally, the proposed rules call for persons or organizations to obtain a permit from the commission to conduct any dog trial "in the course of which game birds or animals obtained from a licensed game farm are used or shot."

A dog trial report shall be filed with the commission by the permittee not more than 10 days after the trial.

Domestic fowl and unprotected game may be used or shot at trials at any time without a trial.

Game birds and animals furnished by the commission shall not be shot or otherwise killed at dog trials.

It will be unlawful for any person to use or shoot game birds or animals obtained from licensed game farms in the training of hunting dogs unless a permit is obtained.

Lawfully possessed wild animals may be used at any time for laying a track or scent for training hunting dogs without a permit.

cane pole dipped sharply and the Appleton man, then a boy, reeled upward but nothing gave. Instead the line started singing upstream. After about 10 minutes a 6-pound carp lay gasping on the bank. It gleamed golden in the sunlight and was the biggest fish in the world. It was then, and still is, the biggest and best fish the Appleton man ever caught.

The Answer

That would be his answer. The biggest fish any man ever catches is the first one when he is a boy for a boy has a sense of values uncluttered by adulthood. When you're seven years old fishing with a cane pole from the bank of a muddy stream and the biggest fish you've ever taken is a 10-inch bullhead, a 6-pound carp makes a record muskie suffer by comparison.

U. S. Authorizes Berlin Boat Club To Operate Lock

Berlin — The long fight to open the government lock at Eureka has ended with an order from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers authorizing a license for the Berlin Boat club to operate the lock.

Congressman Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, says work might be put into condition for will proceed immediately to place the lock in operation.

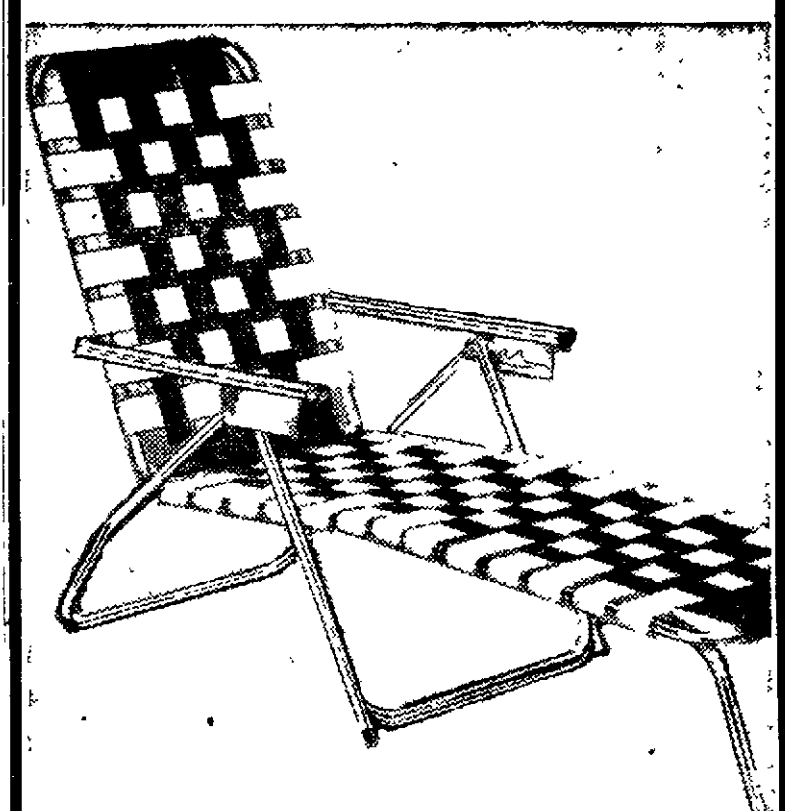

The order, in effect, will open an additional 22 miles of navigable waterway on the upper Fox river.

Repair work will cost an estimated $25,000. The government, presumably, will pay the bill. A. T. Tellefson, Berlin Boat club commodore, says his group will have a lock operator on duty on weekends and holidays.

Tellefson said earlier the lock might be put into condition for operation by mid-July or early August.

Also Orchestral Tidbits

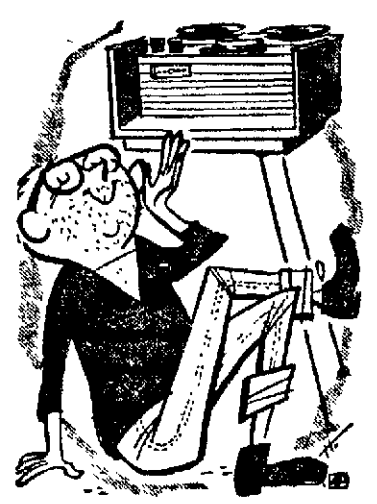

Symphonies Among Top Stereophonic Tapes

BY L. J. KRAMP

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Beethoven's Seventh symphony, Tchaikovsky's Sixth, and Tosca, by the Boston Pops orchestra under Arthur Fiedler, and the other from Prokofiev's "Lieutenant Kije," by the Chicago symphony under Fritz Reiner.

Also outstanding are collections of orchestral tidbits by Stokowski, Dragon and Slatkin.

a Mozart quintet by the Budapest String Quartet; a stirring band concert by Frederick Fennell; and brilliant stereo showpieces featuring "railroad sounds and Dixieland music."

The Beethoven Seventh is by the Pittsburgh symphony under William Steinberg in a powerful Capitol tape. The Tchaikovsky Sixth is by the New York Philharmonic under Dimitri Mitropoulos in a Columbia tape distinguished by a brilliant third movement.

Mercury's unusual taping methods are demonstrated again in the Rosenkavalier suite by Richard Strauss, with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra under Antal Dorati. It is better than the excellent disc version.

RCA Victor also scores with brilliant Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus," by the Boston Pops orchestra under Arthur Fiedler; and the other from Prokofiev's "Lieutenant Kije," by the Chicago symphony under Fritz Reiner.

Capitol's fast growing tape catalog has spotlighted additions in "Overture," by Felix Slatkin and the Hollywood Bowl orchestra; "A World of Music" by Carmen Dragon and the Capitol symphony; "Landmarks," by Leopold Stokowski, and Britten's "Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra," by Slatkin and the Concert Arts orchestra.

The first tape includes the William Tell Light Cavalry, 1812, and Poet and Peasant overtures. The second includes nine items, the best among them bits from Carmen, the Bartered Bride, Eugene Onegin, and Die Fledermaus. The Stokowski collection offers Clair de Lune, Finlandia and others.

Wind Ensemble Columbia's Mozart offering is the Quintet for Viola and Strings, a beautiful reproduction that shows off well in stereo. Columbia also has new tapes in a lighter vein—"Viva," a Mexican medley by Percy Faith and his orchestra, including "La Paloma" and "La Cucaracha," and an exciting voice and drum combination in "The Beat of My Heart," by Tony Bennett and five unusually good drummers.

Drums are only a small part of the sonic excitement in Mercury's "Marching Along" tape suit by Frederick Fennell and the Eastman symphonic wind ensemble. This is a short, low price tape but "The Thunderer," "King Cotton," and "El Capitán" never sounded better. three microphones are used, with three tapes blended into two stereo tracks.

Audio-Fidelity makes much of its wide range recordings, and the evidence is forceful in its tape of "Dukes of Dixieland," volume 3.

The same maker's "Railroad Sounds—Steam and Diesel," lends itself well to stereo, with realistic, "moving" sounds of hissing steam, coupling freight cars, ear-splitting whistles and clanging bells. You can't hear all of the claimed range of 16 to 25,000 cycles but the sound quality of the Audio-Fidelity tapings is undisputed.

Stereo also makes choral music takes on new luster. Robert

Milton Berle To Resume TV Comedy Career

Mister Television Now Appearing on Las Vegas Show

BY BOB THOMAS Las Vegas, Nev. — Milton Television is coming back to the home screen with all the brass assurance that won him that title.

Shaw and his chorale should have a best seller in "A Mighty Fortress," a group of five well-blended hymns, with organ.

"I think people want to laugh," says Milton Berle, "and I'm going to try to make them." Before resuming his career as a TV regular, Uncle Miltie is resting at this desert resort. Resting — hah! The guy is knocking himself out twice nightly at El Rancho Vegas, clowning with an operatic sextette, machine gunning gags at the audience and ending in a whirlwind tap routine that looks far too strenuous for a man marking his first half-century. "Yes, I'll be 50 this week," he confessed. "Perhaps the new TV series will reflect some of the maturity I have achieved with the years."

Appleton Post-Crescent 9 Saturday, July 12, 1958

night half-hour will be pure Berle. He said he would try to do the same kind of thing he did during his early seasons — "some sketches, some songs, some jokes." He corrected the impression that his return to TV was directly due to his performance on this year's Emmy awards show. That was when he went on in the early part of the telecast and wowed the audience with his Berlisms. He stayed overtime and helped louse up the scheduling. Most critics welcomed his spontaneous foolery in an otherwise drab show.

Once upon a time, there was a miller. He had 3 dogs. One day a friend visited the mill and noticed 3 doors cut in the wall... a small door, a medium size door, and a big door.

"What," asked the miller's friend, "are those 3 doors for?"

"Those are for my 3 dogs to go thru," replied the miller.

"But why 3 doors?" puzzled the visitor. "Couldn't all 3 dogs go thru one big door?"

"Heck, no!" exclaimed the miller. "When I say git — I mean GIT!"

Most of my customers are like the miller — when they want service — they want it FAST! And I can give it to them! All I need is more "doors" (outlets to you!). The engineering fellers call it "Full Housepower." What they mean is enough wires, and enough outlets to let me get through fast to you! Why not check up on your wiring? . . . then, . . . Just holler "GIT" — I'm Reddy!

Year-Round Air Conditioning is a part of this gas furnace, as installed in a local Appleton home, according to McKinley Engineering, division of McKinley Sales, 741 W. College avenue. The cooling unit which makes the furnace a year-round boon to the home's inhabitants is positioned on top of the furnace, and provides pleasantly livable temperatures in the home during the hot summer months.

Air Intake for the Air Conditioning Unit shown above is pictured here. The refrigerating unit with air-cooled condenser is mounted in this neat-looking unit outside the home. McKinley Engineering has completed many similar installations of year-round and conversion type air conditioning units in the Fox Cities. Phone number of the firm is RE 4-7166.

Local Firm Receives Letters Recommending Its Cooling Units

Letters of recommendation on its installations of various brands of top-name air conditioners have been received recently by Don McKinley, air-conditioning specialist at McKinley Engineering, 741 W. College avenue.

The letters generally point out, McKinley said Friday, that high humidity, a local problem of increasing intensity of late, is handled just as effectively as high temperatures, which seem to be more rare.

The letters uniformly recommend the restful, healthful atmosphere achieved in homes air conditioned by the firm.

For example, here is part of a recent letter to the firm:

"Two years ago this July, you installed a Carrier Conversion Air Conditioning unit in my home in Appleton. If you recall, the summer of 1955 was unusually hot and humid, so that was one of the main reasons that I decided that we would have our home completely air conditioned."

"But during the past two summers, while we have had very little of the extremely hot days and nights that we experienced in 1955, we have had extremely humid weather, and we have found that by leaving our air-conditioning unit on automatic cooling, and by keeping our win-

An Invitation to See "the rings of history" was issued to Fox Cities readers Friday by McClone Lumber & Supply company, So. Memorial drive, Appleton. This firm, and McClone's Kitchens of Valley Fair are instrumental in helping to bring this interesting display to the Fox Cities for two days, July 17 and 18. The "Redwood Roadshow" will be shown at Valley Fair.

A Giant From the Forest, nature's oldest living thing, will be shown Thursday and Friday of next week in the Valley Fair parking lot, according to McClone's Lumber & Supply company. The whole dramatic logging story from forest to finished plank will also be demonstrated. Rings of history from the Battle of Hastings in 1066 to 1957, the year this giant redwood was cut, are identified. Readers are invited also to see a workbench demonstration of easy-to-make redwood specials for house and garden. Why Georgia-Pacific redwood is a construction marvel and a do-it-yourselfer's dream for economical beauty indoors and out will be shown, McClone said Friday.

Readers will also have a chance to win a Georgia-Pacific redwood wall for their home through lucky "guesstimates."

Entry blanks will be available at the showing on the Valley Fair parking lot. Included is a chance to enter a $125,000 nationwide contest. New homes gain value and beauty when G-P redwood is used in their construction, McClone's pointed out. The lightweight wood is resistant to termites and decay, and is sealed on both back and face, making redwood beveled siding more economical to paint and guarding its natural russet color.

If viewers want additional information on the big log to be shown, they are invited to stop in at McClone Kitchens at Valley Fair.

"I also might mention that your installation has been given the acid test several times when we have entertained large numbers of people (24 couples to be exact). Before our parties, we turned the fresh air inlet open and our exhaust fans on, and even though there was considerable smoking by almost everyone, the air never became offensive, and no one was chilled by sitting near an open window. I can truly say that we have an air conditioned home year round!"

"Not only are we more than pleased with the plumbing and heating, but our service has been terrific! Twice, through no fault of yours, it was necessary to call one of your service men late at night. We were more than impressed with his friendly attitude and the manner in which he performed his job so well. . . ."

McKinley pointed out Friday that it is important to have the right size air conditioner for the job you require, and it is better to let an expert help you to make this decision.

Existing ductwork is usually adequate in hot-air heated homes to permit easy installation of an all-season air conditioning system, he said, although advance planning of suitable ductwork before a new home is built, is still the best.

Wylie Weaves Interesting Story on Trip Around World

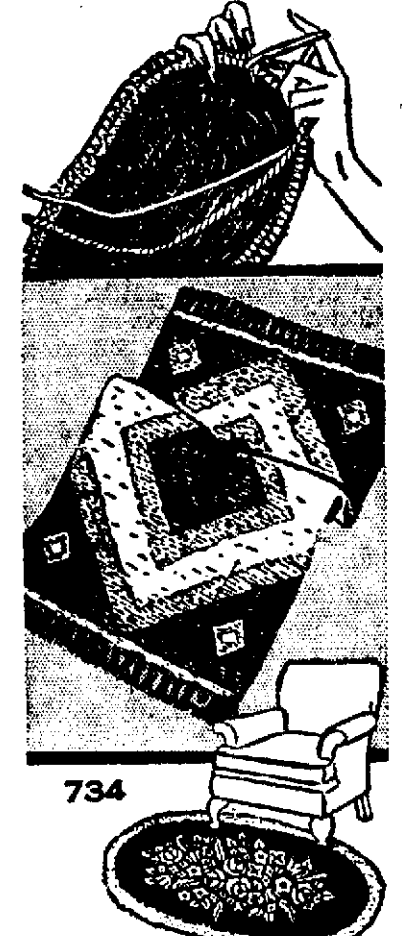

By Jean Wiley Thickens
(The Innocent Ambassadors
By Phillip Wylie. Publishers,
Rinehart, $4.95.)

The ability to make the account of a casual vacation trip around the world engrossing reading is the accomplishment of Phillip Wylie in his recently published "Innocent Ambassadors."

Wylie probably is best known for his "Generation of Vipers," a sharp invective against the moral standards of our times.

Wylie is the son of a Congregational minister who encouraged his son's keen interest in travel and in the world around him. Phillip's ardent interest in world travel was suddenly and tragically interrupted for 20 years when he and his younger brother Ted visited Russia in 1936. The trip ended when the younger brother was murdered by a communist agent in Odessa. It was listed in the papers as an "accident." The same night, a bottle of poisoned whisky was given to Wylie as a gift and almost caused his death. For a year he was desperately ill and partially paralyzed. He succeeded in escaping to Poland before the effects of the slow poison rendered him helpless, and no doubt the good care he received in Warsaw saved his life.

For 20 years his fear of visiting any foreign country prevented him from leaving the United States except for brief visits to Bermuda and Nassau.

Each Chapter Different

His wife succeeded in persuading him to voyage by plane around the world when they went to see their first grandchild in Hawaii.

This book is an account of those travels. Each chapter is a separate story of the visits they made to India, Japan, China, Thailand and the Near East. Because his books are well known, the Wylies were entertained and interviewed by many of the leaders of the various countries where they stopped.

When an Indian official tried to twist author Wylie for American difficulties on racial problems, the author reminded him of the untouchables who live in India. In each city the Wylies visited some official or another would scorn the domestic and foreign policies of the United States. He answered them with ready statements that at times makes him appear as though he enjoyed his powers of argument. Wylie reports verbatim his brilliant refutation of foreign criticisms in the book.

The author's account of their visits to the burning ghats of Benares, of the temples and shrine of beautiful Thailand, of the magnificent scenery of Hawaii and the beauty of Hong-kong harbor make the reader yearn to visit those colorful scenes and learn something of the customs of the inhabitants. The Wylies derived more from each visit than the ordinary tourist and have described their experiences with charm and color.

"The Innocent Ambassadors" should prove of intense interest to readers of all age or station. It also is a liberal education on the attitudes and beliefs of the people who dwell in distant lands.

Your Problems

Large Helpings of Humble Pie Necessary to Marry an Angel

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm a guy in deep trouble. Don't tell me what a jerk I am, just tell me how to get my girl back.

I was engaged to the sweetest angel in the world. She was true to me all the time I was in the service and proved her devotion a million ways. When my mother was sick she quit her job at the sanitarium (she's a nurse) to take care of mom for six weeks. She wouldn't let us pay her.

A few weeks ago she took the night shift to help some woman out for a month. I started to two-time her a little. The girl I took out isn't fit to be discussed in the same breath with my sweetheart.

Well, she caught me at it and broke the engagement. I know I had it coming but I can't bear the thought of losing her. Please tell me how to get her back. I'll do anything.—JERRY JAKE

DEAR JERRY: You sound

Milwaukee Couple Recites Vows

Miss Roberta Ann Haebig, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Haebig, Milwaukee, and James R. Eaton, Milwaukee, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Eaton, repeated wedding vows at St. Agnes Catholic church, Milwaukee, at 9 o'clock this morning.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Rachel Vander Linden, 120 E. Fremont street.

The bride was attended by maid of honor, Miss Lois Haebig, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids included another sister, Mrs. William G. Roets, and the Misses Connie Winkler, Carol Cavanaugh and Janet Nirschl.

The junior bridal aid was a niece of the bridegroom, Miss Jo Ann Bauer.

Mr. Eaton was aided by his brothers, Richard, best man, Patrick and Michael, as groomsmen. Other groomsmen were James Eaton, nephew of the bridegroom, and Lee Mass.

Ushers were Mr. Roets and Joseph Bauer. Ringbearer was Joseph Roets, 2-year-old nephew of the bride.

After the wedding, a reception will be held at the Kaiser-Knickerbocker hotel, Milwaukee, from 2 to 4 o'clock this afternoon.

as if you're on your knees, Boy — and that's where you belong. Your only hope is to eat large and frequent helpings of humble pie and let her know about every bite.

Call her from home (your own) every night. Tell her how much you miss her. Write her letters. Let her know you're broken-hearted and that you've learned your lesson. Tell her you'll never stop trying to get her back. This girl sounds as if she's worth your best efforts. If you win her back, you're a lucky snuvvugan. Good luck.

DEAR ANN: I'm a bride of three months and very disillusioned. Last night my husband asked me if he could have one night out every two weeks with the boys. They have a poker game that he used to be in on before we were married. He gave it up when we started to go together a year ago. Now he tells me he'd like to get back in. Is this a sign that he's getting tired of me?

I don't want him to think I'm petty or jealous so he has no idea that I'm broken-hearted. But it's tearing me apart to think that already he's trying to spend time away from our love nest.

My mother tells me I should not be a fool. She says married men should be at home with their wives and that I should just tell him nothing doing. Please, Ann, help me.—LUCILLE

I'm afraid if you follow your mother's advice you'll

Differ in Concept

Difficult to Compare American, European Educational Systems

To make general comparisons between the European and American educational systems is difficult, says Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine, because each is based on a different concept of education.

The European systems are for the intellectual elite where tough testing programs tend to favor children from upper social and economic classes. The American educational system, on the other hand, is geared to educating every child.

The only fair comparison between the two systems, say the editors, is with our bright students who may attend our best colleges or make honor societies. In that case, they say U.S. students compare very well. At the professional level, training here is as good as it is abroad, often much better. Witness the fact that we enroll more foreign students than Europe does—over 40,000 a year.

More in School At the age of 16, less than 20 per cent of European youths are in school, while in the U.S. some 70 per cent are studying. At the ages of 18 to 20, about 25 per cent of our boys and girls are in school. In Europe, fewer than 10 per cent are receiving academic training.

As early as the age of 10 or 11, the European youth takes a tough national exam. If he does well he is permitted to attend an academic high school where he prepares for the university. If he doesn't, he takes a general course, perhaps a vocational one, and then drops out of school at about 15.

Youngsters who do get into the academic high schools and live. Our students can develop be at home with HER before long.

By all means let your husband have his night out with the boys. It will make him feel less trapped. And be a good sport about it. As time goes on he'll probably want it less and less. If you fight about this he'll feel compelled to go out to assert his manliness. And then you'll have real trouble.

DEAR ANN: The only excuse for the predicament I'm in is this: it was a lovely spring day about five years ago, and I was lonesome and didn't use my head.

After about seven or eight dates with this man it was apparent that he was an alcoholic. Whenever we went out in public it was embarrassing because he insisted on closing every tavern. When he came to my place I had one heck of a time getting him out.

I've left town twice, stayed away once for almost a year. I've changed phone numbers. I've dyed my hair—but still he locates me.

Is there anything I can do to let this man to leave me alone? I'm a mature woman with grown children and it's embarrassing to have him call at all hours of the day and night. Please tell me what to do.—WIT'S END

Five years and he still insists on hanging on the horn? Apparently you don't say NO very good.

Get tough. Hang up the minute you hear his voice. If he persists, tell him you are going to notify the police—then do so.

Italian Designers Say 'Sack' Style to Change

Rome — The sack is on its way back to covering potatoes instead of the feminine form.

That's the best guess on the eve of next week's Italian fashion designer's autumn showings here.

Not all the experts will commit themselves. But those who will, say womanly curves are bound to fight their way out of the bag.

The Italian high fashion houses are determined to lead the way.

Clarity in Design Nothing so extreme as form-clinging tunics or laced shepherdess bodices is expected.

But the betting is that the human shape will emerge from this year's drapes and folds with greater clarity than last year.

The beltless, sliding waistline might still be with us. The bosom may rise and hemlines waver, but chances are that most lamp-shade shapes will be modified to approximate the body lines.

Fall Fashion Shows

Presentations of Italian high fashion for autumn get underway Thursday at such houses of female finery as Eleonora Gonnelli, Fontana, Gattinoni, Mongolini-Gugenheim, Giovannelli and Gregoriana.

Accessories, children's and men's styles also will be shown.

Designers in Florence

After four days in Rome, the fashion scene shifts to Florence where G. B. Giorgini, the founding father of Italy's Alta Moda, has once again centralized activity.

From July 21 to 25, Carosa, Cappucci, Simonetta, Schubert and other members of the Florence faction of Italy's divided fashion industry will present their collections to an assemblage of buyers, reporters and retinue who later will continue to Paris.

Buttons Glamour Trim to Costume

It used to be that buttons just held things together, but today buttons mean glamour.

No longer just a necessary utility, they are an integral and important part of the design of every costume. And in the '58 fall fashion saga, buttons assume a dramatic and colorful role.

They are exciting accents for the chemise and trapeze; necessary complements to shaggy coating and suit materials; demanded by the new taste for double-breasted fashions; matching accessories for the brilliant color combinations.

Truly decorative accents, buttons require fashion selling and display of the same caliber. Neat, well-labeled rows lose this impact. Such important factors as figure size, material type, color, garment use, washability and fashion-right ideas must be considered.

Baby Likes Quiet Nursery, Few Noises To Distract Him

If you get baby off to a good start, you'll find he'll be easier to handle as he grows older.

It's a good idea to make sure that his play room is away from house traffic, the telephone and street distractions.

Rugs or sound muffling flooring material like rubber tile are good choices for the nursery, and shades for the blinds help keep out the early morning light from the window.

Air Force Offers

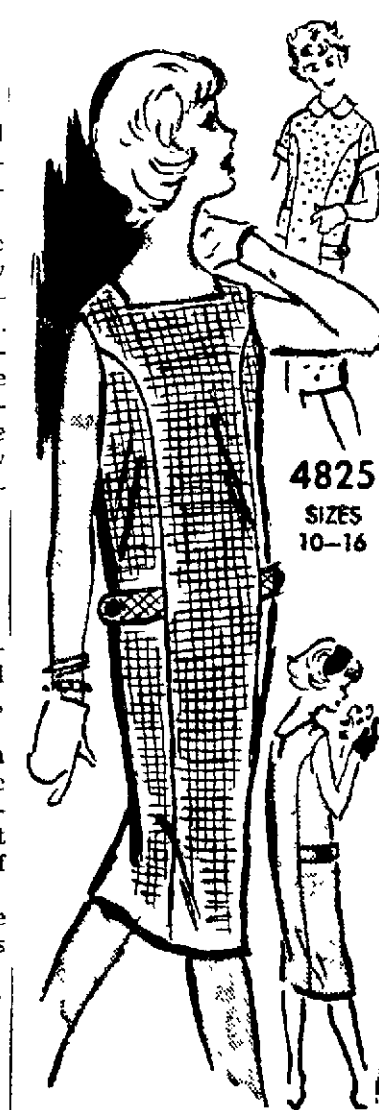

Women's Commissions

Two air force officer programs are open to qualified women. Sgt. Irving Schmidt, air force recruiter, says.

To apply for a commission through officer candidate school, applicants must be between 20 and 26, and must have completed two years of college, Schmidt said.

Direct commissions are available to college graduates between 21 and 27.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

St. Mark Was Not One of the 12 apostles but accompanied Peter and Paul on many of their missionary journeys. He may have been the young man, described in his own gospel, who fled in a "linen cloth" when the soldiers came to arrest Christ in the Garden of Gethsemane.

Mark wrote his gospel at the request of the Romans who asked him to set down the teachings of Peter. He later preached in Alexandria and, like his friends Peter and Paul, was martyred for his faith. (AP Newsfeatures)

Enters Contests

Man's Hobby Lucrative As Well as Enjoyable

Menasha — While most Americans spend a great deal of money fostering their hobbies, a 40-year-old Menashan has found a hobby that is lucrative as well as enjoyable.

Roger W. Dana, 905 First street, has earned between $650 and $1,500 a year since he began entering contests as a hobby in 1952. In the last six years he has taken home some or all of the "gravy" from 110 contests.

Among the many prizes won by Dana, who has worked at Kimberly-Clark corporation the last 20 years, are a washing machine, an outboard motor, four wristwatches, a pedigreed cocker spaniel and cash awards ranging from $5 to $100.

Listening To Radio

He explains he got the "contest bug" one day when he was listening to a radio program which was offering cash prizes for humorous verses. He sent several entries and received two checks which increased his interest in contests.

The next step was an 18-month correspondence course in journalism from the Newspaper Institute of America. He won a special award from the institute for having one of the best writing assignments of his class.

He also graduated from two contest writing courses offered by the Shepherd Contest Writing school and the All-American school, Philadelphia, Pa. With this background, Dana, who maintains he always liked to write, branched out by selling fillers, poetry, light humorous verse and articles of not more than 1,000 words to national magazines and radio and television stations.

High of $150

Dana's writings have sold for as little as 25 cents a line to $10 a line, according to the type of magazine buying the works. He has received a high of $150 for an article.

The Menasha hobbyist received word recently he has won more National Safety council contests since 1952 than anyone else in industry in the United States. He has been given 33

Winneconne District Residents To Vote on Increasing Board

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Rural school districts in the county will hold their annual meetings Monday night to set budgets for the coming school year, discuss W. Bartel, Appleton, "Life's Heaviest Burden" will be his sermon theme.

The term of Mrs. Herbert Helm expires at this meeting and if the petition is approved, the residents will elect three members for 3-year terms.

The district also will take action on a $526,447 budget which would call for raising $268,965 through taxes for the operating budget and $25,584 for bond retirement. The rate of $13.47 for both levies is $1.26 under that set last July.

Also to be voted on is an auditing committee member to succeed Lloyd Haneman whose 3-year term expires.

Lakeview School

Lakeview school district residents will be brought up to date on the completion of the new 6-class room and gymnasium addition for which a $210,000 financing program has been undertaken. The meeting will be at 7:45 Monday night for the budget session and 8 o'clock for the business meeting.

Two board members will be elected to succeed Lyall C. Stimp, Sr., and Armin Weber, Jr. Since the new addition is not complete, the meeting will be in the old gymnasium.

Tullar School

A report on the recent condemnation proceedings started by the school district to obtain three acres of land owned by Earl Hughes will be presented at the Tullar school district meeting Monday night.

A budget session at 7:45 will open the session with the business meeting at 8 o'clock. Terms expiring at the meeting are those of Harlan Hirschy and Dale Winkler. The budget and tax levy will be set.

Spring Road School

Terms of Spring Road school district members expiring at the meeting of that district Monday night are Howard Birr and Elmer Brockman. The meeting will be at 9 o'clock in the evening.

Because of the new $300,000 building program now underway, there will be an increase in the budget which will be presented. The board also is adding three teachers to the staff and will have nine instructors at the school.

2 Cents Per Day For Overdue Books Set by Library

Menasha — A policy of the Menasha library since its dedication 60 years ago will be changed on Aug. 1. That policy is the penny a day fine for overdue books.

Coincident with the raise in the cost of postage, the library will increase its fines to two cents a day.

Marvin Melick, librarian, pointed out other libraries had increased their fines earlier for 6:30 and 8 o'clock Sunday when the first postage increase was put in effect. The cost of the post card notifications on overdue books plus the increased cost of secretarial work to process these cards has made the raise necessary, Melick said.

he has won prizes, 13 were local events. Because he has won every kind of appliance and sometimes receives duplicates, he has sold a number of articles.

A breakdown of the contests he has won includes four in 1952; 11, 1953; 17, 1954; 20, 1955; 22, 1956; 26, 1957, and 10 so far this year.

To keep up on the hundreds of contests going on all the time, Dana subscribes to contest magazines for leads. Included in the contests he has won are those sponsored by major networks and newspapers.

Future plans call for writing books on contest writing and an anthology of verse. He also will keep on entering contests. Dana composed a poem in honor of the Post-Crescent. It reads: "It's the choice and the voice of the town, as a newspaper the Post has re-nown, to prove we're the most, let the Post be your host, for your family from grandpa on down."

Agent Lists Method for Canning

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Homemakers looking to can stomach vegetables this summer should carefully check the new processing times. New directions give revised canning times for most starchy vegetables, advises Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent.

To can pint jars of green beans, process the vegetable in a pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure for 20 minutes. Peas and lima beans in pint jars need 40 minutes, while whole kernel corn requires 55 minutes.

To can with the raw pack method, lightly pack the clean, cold raw vegetables into a jar and add enough boiling water to cover the vegetables. Add half a teaspoon of salt for each pint and seal with new lids. Follow the sealing directions on the box.

Good, clean jars are necessary for canning. One way to prepare jars is to turn them upside down into a pan with an inch of water and boil for 10 minutes, or cover the jars with water and boil them. Complete canning directions can be gotten by writing to the county extension office in Oshkosh.

Besides the money saved, it's much more fun starting from the beginning.

Besides the figurines, Mrs. Boehm makes wall plaques, lamp bases, vases and pins. "It might not be as much fun if it were my business," she added. "And I make many of my birthday and Christmas gifts."

This summer another interest mushroomed for Mrs. Boehm and a neighbor, Mrs. David Schoening, who began making jewelry from plastic materials for which they sent to a jewelry supply house in Florida.

Sell Jewelry

"Some of the neighborhood children are selling the earrings and chains to earn spending money," she said. Local jewelry stores have also purchased some of the summer styles and have expressed interest in buying more of the jewelry for fall and winter sales.

Her enthusiasm for figurines and jewelry is contagious for her daughter, Nancy, 8, who has shown artistic inclinations and for many of the women of Our Savior's Lutheran church who are eager to help Mrs. Boehm make jewelry and knickknacks for the church bazaar in October.

"I think it's too bad if a person can't find a relaxing and enjoyable hobby," she said. "And once it becomes drudgery, it's no longer a pleasant diversion, but hard work," she cautioned.

Childhood Gift Leads to Hobby For Artistic Neenah Housewife

Neenah — When she was a child Mrs. John Boehm, 750 Winneconne avenue, was given some rubber molds which she tossed aside. Years later when she found them in her mother's attic they paved the way for a delightful and challenging hobby — making and painting figurines.

Mrs. Boehm received literature and information from supply houses after answering ads in the craft columns of science and mechanics magazines. "I once attended a class in figurine painting," she added. "But I don't like to work under supervision."

After she became interested in her hobby, Mrs. Boehm priced the molds from which the figures are formed and decided they were too expensive.

She learned how to make them herself by applying eight or nine coats of liquid rubber or tinne coats of liquid rubber to borrowed statuettes or figures borrowed from friends and neighbors.

"People sometimes give me dirty looks when I visit their homes," she explained, "because I always see some knickknacks that I want to borrow for patterns."

Mixes Plaster

"One mold can be used again and again," she added. To mix the ingredients she adds water to a statuette plaster which is shipped from a supply house in Blue Rapids, Kan. "When it reaches the consistency of creamy mashed potatoes, I pour the plaster into molds," Mrs. Boehm pointed out.

"Smaller figures dry in 45 minutes and the larger molds require an hour and a half for drying time," she explained. A coating of soap suds is applied to the rubber to free the finished plaster cast from the mold.

Before the statuettes are ready for painting, Mrs. Boehm applies two coats of an undercoating and to fashion the tiny feature details, she uses a fine brush and enamel paints.

"It's fun mixing colors," said the artist. She orders yellow, blue, red, black, green, skin tone, purple and white enamel and as she concocts new shades, she stores them in small jars for future use.

"Some of my shades are quite pretty and some are pretty awful," she laughed.

A lustre-powder, which is used after the paints have dried, gives the figurines a baked appearance.

Adds Trim

"People who buy figurines that are ready to paint miss most of the fun of the pastime," she advised. A mold of a lady which she made has provided figures of many different styles by adding lace trim, a cloth jacket and a fur jacket and applying undercoating to make it hard enough for painting.

"That mold sold for $35," Mrs. Boehm pointed to the red rubber form, "and for that price I can make six molds."

Braves' Power Show Topples Dodgers, 7 to 4

Joey Jay Wins With Relief Help From McMahon

Los Angeles—(AP)—The Braves kept their minds on their work, while the Dodgers fought a losing battle of words with the umpires, and beat Los Angeles, 7-4, Friday with a show of power.

During the sixth-inning hassle, in which both teams lodged protests that were later dropped, the Braves erased a 3-run Los Angeles lead, then pounded out three more tallies in the seventh and eighth frames to sew up the game. The Braves unleashed a 15-hit attack to finally give strapping young Joey Jay the kind of support his pitching has deserved. The 22-year-old "bonus baby," with some timely assistance from reliever Don McMahon in the ninth, responded by registering his third victory against three defeats. Jay allowed 11 hits, struck out five and walked three as he gave Milwaukee the series, 2-1.

Covington Stars Slugging Wes Covington, with a 4-for-4, led the heaviest display of power by the Milwaukeeans since they went into a hitting decline that threatened to dislodge them from the National league lead. The big outfielder drove in what proved to be the winning run with a double in the seventh.

Able support for Covington's busy bat came from Hank Aaron with a 3-for-5, and Eddie Mathews and Johnny Logan, each 2 for 5, with Eddie crashing a home run, his seven-tenth of the season. Mathews' homer came in the fourth inning, and tied the score at 1-all. He became the third player to knock a ball over the Coliseum's right field barrier near the foul pole. Los Angeles scored three runs in the fifth on a homer to left by starting pitcher Don Drysdale and a 2-run round-tripper by Carl Furillo into the left centerfield seats. That made it 4-1 for the Dodgers in the top half of the sixth when all the trouble started.

Aaron reached first on an error and went to second on Covington's single. Then Frank Torre smashed a grounder past first. The ball rolled to the Dodger bull pen. The Dodgers claimed that a fan reached out and touched the ball and that first base umpire Frank Dascoli held up two fingers, signifying a ground rule double. At any rate, Aaron scored and Covington went all the way around first to score, too.

Dascoli said after the game that the ball was dead as soon as he threw up his fingers, stopping Torre at second. Third base umpire "Shag" Crawford, whose duty it was to determine how many bases Covington could have advanced if the ball had not been interfered with, awarded Covington home base. The Dodgers went into a howling, gesticulating frenzy of protest, and there was some indecision by the umpires that added to the confusion.

Smith Overruled Plate umpire Vinnie Smith started to send Covington back to third but was overruled by Crawford. Since Crawford's call was obviously a judgment decision, the Dodgers—who had announced that they were playing the game under pro-

The winners tallied three runs in the third, two in the fourth, two in the fifth and three in the sixth and made a total of 11 hits. Davenport Cops Another Slugfest From Winona, 13-5

By The Associated Press Davenport held the upper hand in another Three-I league power hitting spree Friday night and defeated Winona 13-5. The contest did not quite match Thursday night's 13 homers when the teams split a doubleheader but the Dav- Sox unleashed plenty of power, collecting all their runs in the first three innings. Relievers Dave Hill and Bob Schmidt stopped the barrage and allowed Davenport only one hit. League-leader Cedar Rapids suffered its second loss in 11 games, losing to Green Bay, 5-2.

Green Bay broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning with Bob Parker's single scoring two of the inning's three runs. The tie-breaking run however was a 3-foot tap in front of the plate by Shelle Brodsky.

Foxes Drop Pair to Bees, Play Host to 3-1 Leaders Tonight

Goerger and Moore Stop Fox Cities

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The sight of the Cedar Rapids baseball team could prove a tonic for the "ache all over" feeling the Fox Cities Foxes carry today after having been put through the wringer twice by Burlington Friday night. The Junior Braves from the Rapids, who have jumped off to a sizzling start in the Three-I league's second round race, were whipped by the Foxes seven times in 11 first-round games.

Drop to Fifth Burlington's Bees felled the Foxes, 7-2 and 8-5 last night, for their eighth and ninth successes in their latest 10 encounters with the Wisconsin entry. Burlington, which now boasts a 12-5 season's edge over the Foxes, pushed the Fox Cities club from a second place tie all the way down to fifth place in 4 hours, 3 minutes of labor.

At 8 o'clock tonight, the Foxes will rely on Ron Bloodworth to be the stopper against league-leading Cedar Rapids. Bloodworth has had four days' rest since pitching a 4-hitter against Davenport. Cedar Rapids will also oppose the Foxes in Sunday's "Family Night" attraction which starts at 8 o'clock.

Last night's opening game loss was a case of too much Ron Goerger. The left-handed all-star game nominee scattered seven hits over the 7-inning route, walked none and was in command all the way after Bob Tano's lead-off home run.

Turn Philanthropic In the second game, the Foxes turned philanthropic and neutralized the effect of their own 3-home run power display with an assortment of errors, wild pitches, passed balls, walks and "lost" fly balls.

All of the Foxes' runs in the second game came on late-inning homers off the bats of Carlos Pascual, Rene Nodarse and Jim Hall. Nodarse was a 3-run blast as a pinch batter. It was the fourth homer of the season for the slugger moundsman and the first time in four games that the Foxes lost when he connected for the full distance.

The twin loss was the second such occurrence of the season for the Foxes. Their other double licking came at Davenport June 1. Of their remaining five doubleheaders, the Foxes won one and split four.

Mitchell Errs A miscue by Gary Mitchell in the first inning of the opener helped get the Foxes' pitcher off to a shaky start. Russ Gragg doubled but was caught at third on Dave Hanrahan's ground ball to the shortstop. Hanrahan then tried to steal second while Mitchell held the ball. "Mitch" had lots of time

Wednesday Night's Games: Kaukauna at Oshkosh. Freedom at Appleton. Manitowoc at Two Rivers.

Freedom invades Oshkosh Sunday for the only Fox River Valley league game matching winners of last week's second-round openers.

First-round champion Menasha kicks off the second week of play in round No. 2 as host to Two Rivers tonight. The Macs, who also are the league's defending grand champions, will try to duplicate their first-half performance in winning eight straight after debuting with a loss. In each case Manitowoc inflicted the inaugural loss.

Appleton Invades LC-K Other Sunday pairings, besides Freedom at Oshkosh, are these: Appleton at Little Chute-Kimberly, Kaukauna at Harrison and Reedsville at Manitowoc.

Freedom nipped Oshkosh, 3-2, in a first-round game on Jim Vandewettering's tie-breaking single. Mike Vanden Heuvel stopped Oshkosh with six hits.

LC-K, which will be making its second-round bow, finished only one game from the top in the first half. Bob Schmidt and Al Harke combined to stop Appleton Valley Fair, 8-3, on six hits in May. Floyd Harman and Gene Peerenboom homered for the winners.

Kaukauna had little trouble with Harrison the first time around, winning 11-2, on Joe DeBruin's 7-hit hurling.

Reedsville accounted for one of the two losses suffered by Manitowoc in the first half. Bill Ebert's grand slam homer in the ninth gave Reedsville a 16-12 win.

The Macs polished off Two Rivers, 15-1, the first time around.

Promoter White Indicted for Attempted 'Fix'

Wallman Also Linked With Conspiracy in Akino-Logart Bout

New York — (AP) — The mystery of the wholesale serving of subpoenas the night of the Virgil Akino-Isaac Logart fight last March 21 has been solved with the indictment of boxing matchmaker Jimmy White.

The 51-year-old New Yorker was named Thursday by a grand jury on charges of conspiracy to fix the bout in question, and acting as an "undercover manager" for Logart. He pleaded innocent and was released on $2,500 bail.

The jury also linked Herman "Hymie the Mink" Wallman in the indictment as a co-conspirator but not as a defendant. Last week, in an indictment returned against boxing judge Bert Grant, Wallman was named as a co-conspirator.

Ironically, the fix attempt on the Akino-Logart bout failed to come off. The conspiracy count accused White and Wallman of acting in concert in planning to bribe certain officials, one of whom was expected to be Grant. However, Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan's office said none of those expected-to-be-named officials was assigned to the fight and no bribe overture was made to the officials who did serve.

Akins, far behind, rallied to knock out Logart in the sixth round of their bout.

In the same division, Sindahl's hurler Dave Miller was unlucky for the second week in a row. Last week, he lost a 1-hitter; this week, a no-hitter, as Yellow Cab tipped Sindahl's, 1-0. Winning pitcher Marty Myse allowed one hit.

Bill Ullwelling threw a 2-hitter for the winners as Sherry Motors knocked Hotel Appleton out of a first-place tie, 3-1, in the National division of the Minor Boys' Baseball league, sponsored by the Appleton Recreation department.

Jack Plamann, the losing pitcher, gave up only three hits, of which Ullwelling got two. In the other games through Thursday, Cloud Bank and the Optimists won forfeits.

In the American division of the Minor league, Pond's pounded Valley Ready Mix, 20-1, in the only game through Thursday. Chuck Lueck pitched a 1-hitter for the winners. Two more forfeit wins were recorded—Police over VFW and UCT over Elm Tree.

Foxes Lose 2 To Bees, Play Cedar Rapids

to get him but threw the ball into center field, the running taking third. Gordie Massa's sacrifice fly brought in run No. 1. Lee Handley accounted for the second of the inning with a homer to left field.

Tano's homer in the bottom of the first cut his team's deficit to 2-1. It remained that way as Goerger and Mitchell duelled through the ensuing four innings.

Burlington got two more in the sixth on a walk, two singles and an infield out and added an insurance run on Billy Williams' 2-on home run over the right field wall in the seventh.

The Foxes flurried briefly in the seventh and final frame in "Chick" Payne's double. Don Dantoni's single and pinch batter John Marr's sacrifice fly.

Five Early Runs

For the first six innings of the nightcap the crowd of 1,649 (1,249 paid and 400 guests from Appleton Recreation department boys leagues) again had little to cheer about.

Bob Moore, who retired 12 Foxes in one span from the second to the sixth, was making the most of the five early runs his mates had foraged for him.

All-Star game selectee Dick Griffith, who for the fourth straight time failed in his quest for victory No. 10, had trouble in his brief stay—but the Bees' first-inning run was no fault of his. After Gragg singled, Hanrahan fouled out. Walt Dixon's easy pop fly into short left was lost in the lights by Dantoni for a hit. Dantoni picked the ball up and threw it past third, the runners going to second and third. Hanley skied to center, and the ball was lost by Hall and became a run-scoring double.

In the third inning, Gragg walked and took second on a passed ball. Hanrahan stroled. Dixon sacrificed the men to second and third. Handley fanned, but Loudenback was walked intentionally to load the bases.

Williams walked on a 3-2 pitch, to force in a run. Jim Woods got the only hit of the 4-run inning—a solid single to right center—plating two men.

A wild pitch moved runners to second and third. Ralph Holding walked—the fourth ball being intentional. Earl Furlow replaced Griffith. As Moore swung at a pitch, the ball got away from Payne allowing a run to score.

Furlow stayed on the job for four more innings and pitched a 1-hit, 5-strikeout brand of glossy relief ball.

Pascual Hits No. 13

Pascual opened the home seventh with his thirteenth homer—a long, high smash over the left center field wall.

The next two Foxes went out, but Billy Bone beat out a bunt and Dantoni singled to right. Nodarse came in to bat for Furlow and got a big ovation as the spectators remembered his 3-run homer of the previous night. And, "Babe" did it again. He kissed one over the center field barrier, and the Foxes were right back in the ball game—trailing only 5-4.

However, reliever Ernie Stinson was unable to hold the fort in the eighth and ninth. In the Bees' eighth, three singles, a wild pitch and a walk scored two runs. In the ninth, a single, a walk and a Dantoni error let in another.

The left-handed hitting Hall concluded Fox Cities scoring in the eighth with a lead-off blast over the left field fence—his seventh homer of the season.

After Pascual got a 1-out walk from Moore, Manager Dixon called on fireman Ed

Donnelly. Woods made a good stop on Nisewonger's grounder and turned it into a double play. Donnelly took care of the ninth with ease.

Area Dog Club Plans Training Sessions

Neenah — The Winnegamie Dog club will begin its training classes in two weeks, it was decided at the monthly meeting Thursday evening at the Whiting-boathouse.

Non-members wishing to enroll their dogs in the training program may join the club before the project gets underway. The club held a discussion on rabies. The next meeting will be held on Aug. 7.

Jockey Raia Scores First Win Since '55

New York — (AP) — "It's a long time between winners," said Jockey John Raia today as he paraphrased what the governor of North Carolina said to the governor of South Carolina.

And how right he was. When the 25-year-old New York native from Hartford, Conn., scored with Quill at Jamaica Friday it marked his first winner since Oct. 4, 1955.

Festivities are Over, But the Work Goes on Jamestown, Va. — (AP) — The federal commission which helped to plan the 1957 Jamestown festival has been disbanded but its work will go on for another 10 years. That's the time estimated to complete microfilming of British records on the Virginia colony.

New Method to Change Classes Adopted at KHS

Special Week Set Aside in August For Programming

Kaukauna — A new method for program changes at Kaukauna High school is being adopted this year in an effort to eliminate class changes during the first week of school which has resulted in considerable confusion for both teachers and students, according to Julian Biehler, principal.

The week of Aug. 4 through 8 has been set aside to accept student changes in class schedules, according to the principal. Changes can be made by stopping at the school office any time during normal office hours. Students unable to report during the regular day due to work or vacation schedules will have the opportunity to change classes between 7 and 9 o'clock in the evening on Aug. 7.

All students wishing to change classes must have a note of consent from their parents indicating parental approval for the change. School officials anticipate no further changes after the start of the regular school year, according to Biehler.

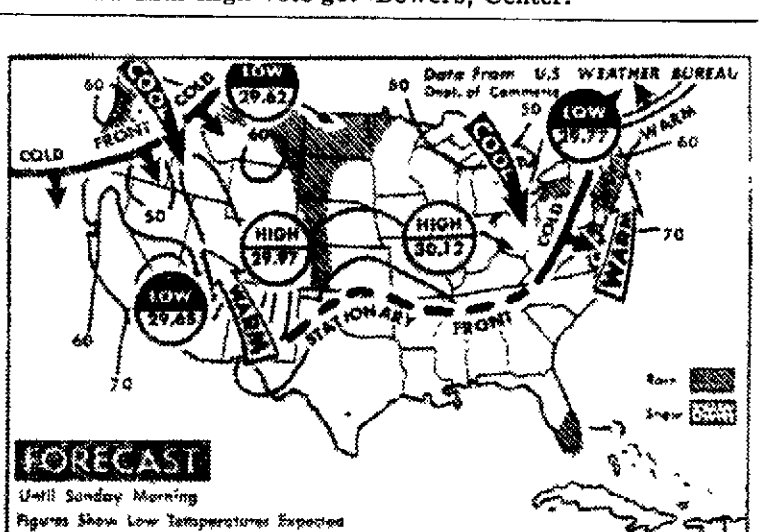

New students who are attending Kaukauna High for the first time and who did not receive program schedules earlier this year will also be permitted to sign up for classes during the special week. A complete list of class schedules, times and instructors will be posted during the week for the convenience of new students.

Pabst Begins Negotiation to Purchase Blatz

Milwaukee — The Pabst Brewing Co. has begun negotiation for the possible purchase of Milwaukee's Blatz Brewing Co. The price tag reportedly is 16 million dollars.

Harris Perlstein, Chicago, board chairman and president of Pabst, confirmed Friday that "exploratory discussions" have been held over a period of weeks.

"Nothing definite has been determined yet," Perlstein added.

Last April when Perlstein won a proxy fight for control of Pabst, he said he was interested in merging with or acquiring another company if it would make his company's operations more profitable. The firm reported a net loss of $2,871,200 in 1957.

The Blatz Brewery, with an average employment of 1,100, has been owned by Schenley Industries Inc., since 1943. It was founded here in 1851 by Valentine Blatz, Sr.

Pabst, established in Milwaukee 114 years ago, has plants in Milwaukee, Peoria, Ill., Newark, N. J. and Los Angeles.

There was no immediate comment from either Blatz or Schenley officials.
